What You Don't Know Can Hurt Your Company

- Unless your company is in compliance with OSHA rules and regulations, you risk substantial fines and penalties.
- Training will help you reduce accidents and injuries—saving your telecommunications company significant dollars and minimizing accident-associated costs.
- Establish or refine your safety policies and procedures with real-life examples.
- Learn to “read” and take home the current General Industry Code of Regulations book.
- Upon satisfactory completion of the session/test, you will receive a completion certificate/OSHA 10-Hour General Industry card

Agenda Topics: Prior to the sessions, some of the agenda topics maybe modified to reflect the specific requirements of the telecommunications company/attendees. For example: Ergonomics, Power Generation, and Workplace Violence could be included.

Cost: $250/participant; Participants Needed: 20 minimum and 50 maximum
